I am a freelance graphic designer with experience in all things design – from logos, websites, annual reports and magazine advertisements to brochures, trade show banners and media kits. Based near London, Ontario, I am equally at ease working with local and long-distance clients.

I have a strong client base in the public sector, having worked on many assignments with federal government departments and agencies, as well as academic institutions. I have also worked with many clients in the not-for-profit and retail sectors where my marketing and editing skills are often highly employed.
